GERMANS TO GET ALLIES' FINAL TREATY NOTE TODAY

Foe Also to be Notified of Five Days' Limit for Decision
Terms Will be Taken Up For Consideration by National Assembly Tonight

PARIS—The allies' reply to the German counter-proposals will be delivered to Foreign Minister Brockdorff-Rantzau in Versailles at 4 o'clock this afternoon, according to an official announcement.

Paul Dutasta, secretary of the peace conference, was to go to Versailles today to hand the document to Foreign Minister Brockdorff-Rantzau. It was understood that he would make an oral statement instead of reading the introductory letter. At the same time, he was expected to notify the Germans that they will have five days in which to accept the revised terms. This period will include the three day notice of denunciation of the armistice, leaving the way open for the allies to begin military operations against the Germans immediately after expiration of the five days should they refuse to sign.

According to the Paris morning papers the revised text of the treaty will not be fully printed before this evening. It will be forwarded as soon as possible, but the Germans in the meantime will receive 200 copies of the original text, correct in red ink, so as to permit them to revise Brockdorff-Rantzau's original copy.

Brockdorff-Rantzau and his associates have ordered a special train to take them direct to Weimar tonight, where the German national assembly will consider the terms.

German Proposals

PARIS—The German counter-proposals contain the following assertions:

Germany accepted Wilson's fourteen points and nothing else as the basis of peace.

The original treaty contains a number of contradictions of principles, particularly in regard to disposition of German territories, economic conditions and Germany's admission to the league of nations.

Germany agrees to the basic idea of military, naval and aerial regulations, especially to abolition of compulsory service, but contends she must retain sufficient forces during the "period of transition" before reducing her army to the 100,000 limit.

Cession of Upper Silesia and the Saar basin should not be carried out without a plebiscite. The same principle should be applied to Posen, West Prussia, Danzig, Schleswig and Moersnet.

Dismantling of Heligoland is agreed to.

Altho justified in demanding restoration of her colonies, Germany is ready to accept a mandatory over them under the league of nations. Renunciation of German rights in China is affirmed.

Realization of the provision for renunciation of all of Germany's rights in Europe outside her own frontiers is impossible.

The obligation of paying for all damages sustained by the civil populations of Belgium and France is accepted.

Germany is anxious to help in restoration of Belgium and France and will make proposals to this end shortly.

Germany cannot make ton for ton replacement of destroyed shipping, as this is beyond her powers of production.

Germany proposes establishment of a German commission to co-operate with the allied reparations commission in working out the details of payment of indemnities.

Demand is made for immediate admission to the league of nations.

Protest is made to international control of Germany's navigable rivers.

The Kiel canal will be opened to all nations, under conditions of reciprocity.

Request is made for repatriation of all German war prisoners and interned civilians convicted of crimes committed in a hostile state during the war.

Germany refuses to recognize any justification or legality in criminal prosecution of the former kaiser, or other persons accused of violation of the laws of war, but declares she is ready to see that violations of international law are punished and suggests the preliminary question as to whether such offense has been committed be submitted to an international tribunal of neutrals.

Protest is made against even temporary exclusion of Germany from the international labor organization.

Germany protests against occupation of her territories to guarantee fulfillment of the peace terms.

A number of detailed criticisms and demands for fuller explanation are appended. Another supplement contains comments of the German financial commission.

Search Of Nine Years Is Ended By Man's Arrest

Search covering a period of nine years ended Monday morning with the return of William Shobe, 45, former alien county man, from Huntington, Tennessee to the county jail charged with the desertion of his wife and four minor children. Since then one child has died.

Sheriff Baxter made the trip to the southern town and found Shobe remarried, this time with three children by the later marriage. He was divorced from his first wife.

According to the story of the sheriff at the time of his separation the wife was allowed alimony and support for the three children.

WILSON TO TOUR NATION IN FIGHT TO SAVE LEAGUE

President to Immediately Begin Speaking Trip on His Return

Nothing Must Interfere With Country Understanding the Treaty, He Says

WASHINGTON—President Wilson, upon his return home, immediately will carry his fight for the peace treaty and league of nations covenant directly to the people, according to plans being perfected now.

A tentative itinerary including stops at the principal cities from one end of the country to the other is now before the president in Paris.

The president's determination to fight the foes of the treaty and the league was voiced in a private message received here today, in which the president said nothing must interfere with his "getting the country to understand the treaty and the league."

WILL SAIL SOON

When the president's swing around the circle begins depends entirely upon how soon he is able to leave Paris. It now appears likely that he will be on the high seas enroute home within ten days, unless there is some hitch in the scheduled signing of the treaty by the Germans June 21.

The president will leave for Brussels tomorrow night, according to a message received here today, and return to Paris Friday morning. He hopes now to be home by July 1, or shortly afterwards. He will deliver his message on the peace treaty to congress and then start immediately to carry his case to the people.

MANY INVITATIONS

Invitations have been received at the White House urging the president to visit various cities. St. Louis wants him July 4 and Virginia is hoping he will attend Richmond day, July 20, celebrating the 30th anniversary of the first law-making body in the country. It is assumed his stops will include Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City and coast points—probably Los Angeles and San Francisco among others.

Official word of the president's decision to take up the cudgel in behalf of the treaty and the league is looked on here as forecasting a determined offensive by administration followers and friends of the covenant to drive the treaty through the senate. The president sent a personal message to Senator Walsh, Mo., and Robinson, Arkansas, approving their recent speeches on the league and stating that they had done a good service in bringing about an understanding in the country of the new situation, necessitating "the proper standing and influence of America in the world."

Word from Dr. Grayson in Paris today indicated the president's health was good.

HUNDREDS OF VETERANS ARRIVE IN LIMA FOR STATE ENCAMPMENT

City Doing Everything Possible to Make Visit of Aged Heroes Pleasant

Mass Meeting Will be Held at Memorial Hall Tonight at 7 O'clock

Lima opened her arms Monday morning to the Civil War veterans, and affiliated organizations, blazoning forth in an abundance of decoration and welcoming cheer.

While a few G. A. R. veterans arrived last week and Sunday, the great number of arrivals did not come until Monday morning. By mid-afternoon at least three hundred had registered at the headquarters tent, Public Square.

Special delegations of Boy Scouts and members of the local affiliated organizations met all incoming trains, and escorted the arrivals to the public square, where they were duly registered and assigned to lodgings.

Headquarters for the G. A. R. officials has been opened in the Hotel Norval, where the Credentials Committee met at 1 p. m.

The Woman's Relief Corps opened headquarters on the second floor of the Norval Hotel, the following department officers arriving Sunday: Emogene Niver Marshall, president; Dora L. Brush, secretary; Emma M. Goodwin, treasurer; and Ida T. Burch, senior aid. The day was given over to registration and preparation for the meetings of the week.

Headquarters of the Ladies of the G. A. R. were opened at the Lima House at noon Monday, which is also the location of the Sons of Veterans and Sons of Veterans Auxiliary headquarters. The Daughters of Veterans headquarters are at the Norval Hotel.

The information booth, located in the north west corner of the square was the scene of much activity all day, many old comrades meeting friends. Here each arrival is registered in the ledgers, and is assigned to lodgings. Boy Scouts in great numbers were early in action, assisting the veterans to their rooms, or about the city.

The first three arrivals to be recorded in the register were from Richmond, Indiana, altho they fought in different divisions. John Campbell was with Cos. E and D of the 95th, Pennsylvania; A. E. Bonnell, was with Co. G of the West Virginia 1st, while Edward Price, fought with Co. F, 36th of Indiana.

Veterans from all sections of the state have arrived, with many reporting from Pennsylvania, Illinois, West Virginia, Indiana and Michigan.

All indications point to a large crowd of visitors. Housing space, which was a source of considerable anxiety to the committee in charge, is being handled with but little difficulty. Many people making an eleven hour offer of rooms.

Chairman Carl Rowlands reported that everything was moving satisfactorily, except the question of automobiles, drinking barrels, and benches for the use of the veterans. There were but two drinking barrels placed by merchants up to noon Monday, and the heat of the day drove hundreds of tired and hot veterans to them. Benches placed in front of the stores were fully occupied all day.

Ice cream and cold drink stands are stationed at many points along the Main street, and about the square, giving the city a gala day appearance. The entire tone of the city has changed, and the week will be a series of conventions and meetings.

P. Reed Marshall was in charge of the registration booth Monday. The telephone company installed phones under number Main 4788, and several clerks and assistants are constantly on hand to administer to the wants and answer questions of the visiting delegates. Marshall's father, W. V. Marshall, was an early arrival, coming from Pittsburgh, Pa.

Monday night at 7 o'clock the first important gathering of the week will take place at the Memorial Hall. It will be the occasion of the greeting meeting, and will be attended by all visiting delegates and the public.

The various affiliated organizations will participate in the greeting meeting, and the following program has been arranged.

Chairman Dan M. Hall, department commander, presiding.
Song, America, by audiences.
Invocation, Rev. Edmund Burdall, department chaplain.

Address of Welcome, B. H. Simpson, mayor of the city.

DEATH PRAYER STARTS PROBE

Former Army Aviator Hangs Himself in Room of Chicago Hotel

CHICAGO.—Army intelligence officers have started an investigation into the suicide of Oscar Voss, discharged army aviator, whose body was found in his room at the Bradford hotel here. A mysterious farewell note which he scribbled on the back of a bank book has aroused the suspicion that he may have been mixed up in recent army graft exposures. The note read:

"I have prayed for forgiveness. They are working on the theory that he ended his life in order to escape prosecution. The intelligence department was busy last night collecting data on his military career and questioning his former commanding officers on his movements.

Rollin Lynch, one of his friends at the Bradford, denied that Voss had been mixed up in any graft.

U. S. TROOPS CROSS THE BORDER, TAKE JUAREZ

ACTION IS TAKEN FOR PROTECTION OF AMERICAN LIFE

Purpose of Sending Troops into Mexico Explained by Sec. Baker

No Misunderstanding Between Southern Republic and U. S., He Says

WASHINGTON—The sole purpose of the American soldiers crossing the Mexican border is to protect life of Americans, Secretary of War Baker said today in commenting on the situation there.

"There is no possibility of a misunderstanding between the republic of Mexico and the United States with regard to the protection of life on the American side," Baker said.

"In many instances previously it has been necessary for the American forces very briefly to cross the border to disperse bandit forces. The sole purpose of the American soldiers is to protect life on the American side."

Communication with Gen. Cabell, in charge of American forces on the border, has been interrupted, it was said at the war department today, but attempts are being made to restore it both by land and wireless.

American troops were ordered to cross the border to disperse the Villista bandits, Major Gen. Dorsey C. Cabell notified the war department today.

Shots had been fired into El Paso, Cabell wired, and the crossing of the border was ordered as a measure of safety to protect citizens of El Paso.

Troops were ordered not to undertake an invasion of Mexico, Gen. Cabell reported, and will be withdrawn as soon as the safety of El Paso residents is assured.

GEN. CABELL'S REPORT

Gen. Cabell based his report on a dispatch from Brig. Gen. Erwin, in command at El Paso. Cabell had previously wired Washington that Carranzistas were in possession of Juarez and that Villistas were retreating.

Cabell wired the war department today as follows:

"Marfa, Texas, 1:45 a. m. June 16. Following received 1:00 a. m. Monday from El Paso: 'Ten p. m. Since my telegram to you following developments have occurred: About 4:20 p. m. Villistas again attacked Juarez from the south and east and succeeded in entering the town. They were driven out by Carranzistas under command of Escobar, who was wounded and who was brought to this side of the line and is now in the base hospital. Since then intermittent firing has been going on between Villistas and Carranzistas. At this hour (10 o'clock) the Villistas are reported to be practically in possession of Juarez. Upon affidavits of three responsible citizens of El Paso; that Villistas had fired into El Paso; upon the investigation of the wounding of a Mexican girl made by the district inspector showing she had been wounded by a shot fired by Villistas; upon investigation by the district inspector of two officers of the police department of El Paso showing that shots undoubtedly coming from Villistas had been fired into El Paso, because of the wounding of several innocent persons residing in El Paso and of two American soldiers performing their duty on June 14 and 15, under authority given me in your telegram dated June 12, 1919, one p. m., this date ordered troops of my command to cross the border and disperse Villistas, but on no account to undertake an invasion into Mexico. Troops of my command are now crossing the border to carry out this order. As soon as I accomplished this and the safety of the citizens of El Paso is assured, troops will be withdrawn to this side of the border.—Erwin."

In addition to the foregoing dispatch, Gen. Cabell filed the following:

"Gen. Erwin reports from El Paso Carranzistas in possession of Juarez and Villistas retreating. All quiet, few casualties in El Paso. No premeditated firing in El Paso."

Americans Are Ordered Out of Mexico After Capturing or Killing Every Villista Soldier Found

Drastic Action Taken to Prevent Firing Into El Paso—Only Two of Uncle Sam's Men Slightly Wounded

EL PASO.—"Our work is finished. I will order our troop back from Juarez probably this noon, certainly today," said Gen. J. B. Erwin, commanding this border district.

American troops completely routed the Villistas in and around Juarez this morning, driving them "in every direction," said Erwin.

The total American casualties so far reported were only two slightly wounded.

Gen. Erwin stated that the Americans reported counting 36 dead Villistas in and around Juarez. The total Villista casualties is probably much larger.

ENTRY OF U. S. TROOPS

EL PASO.—United States troops were in full possession of Juarez today and American cavalry scoured the Mexican territory south and east of Juarez, capturing or killing every Villista soldier they found.

The American advance into Juarez was undertaken at 11 P. M., Sunday, by orders from Gen. J. B. Erwin, commander in the El Paso district, to prevent further firing into this city as the result of the fighting in Juarez which was under heavy assault from a large Villista force.

Piloted by three armored cars, a number of American machine gun crews and one pounders led the advance. They were closely followed by negro troops of the twenty fourth United States Infantry.

Two companies of the United States nineteenth infantry followed across the bridge to Juarez. The American advance encountered little resistance at first. But sniping against the United States forces began within a short time. After one American soldier was reported killed, orders were given to hunt down snipers and kill them on sight.

In the meantime the guns of the 82nd United States field artillery opened a bombardment from the El Paso side against the race track east of Juarez, where the Villistas were entrenched.

The fifth and seventh regiments of United States cavalry drove their mounts through the shallow waters of the Rio Grande. ENTER JUAREZ 10 MINUTES AFTER ORDERS ARE GIVEN.

Col. Selas Tompkins, of the seventh, commanded the cavalry brigade. He directed an enveloping movement against the race track, following up the box barrage of the American artillery which was intended to cut off the Villistas there from escape.

At last reports the American advance was going well. Gen. Erwin officially announced that no intervention or invasion of Mexican soil in any punitive expeditions such as followed the Villistas' raid on Columbus, N. M., several days ago, is intended in the present expedition.

As soon as the safety of El Paso and its citizens is assured, Erwin stated, the American troops will be withdrawn to this side again.

The American crossing was made with typical Yankee dash. Within ten minutes after orders were given the advance forces were entering Juarez. The preparations were made with the same thoroughness as for a night raid on the western front, but on a smaller scale.

The American troops found Juarez filled with dead and wounded Mexicans of both factions, while the inhabitants covered in their adobe homes. Fighting had been going on in Juarez intermittently since late Saturday night when the rebel attack opened against the Carranzista garrison.

Dead were lying in distorted attitudes over curbing. Dogs were prowling among the fallen Mexicans.

MAY COMPROMISE ON CITY RELIEF

New Measure Being Drawn to be Presented to Ohio Legislature

COLUMBUS.—The provisions of a compromise bill to afford financial relief for near-bankrupt cities and school districts of Ohio, as given out here today, are as follows:

Cities, after estimating their total deficits up to January 1, 1920, may issue bonds for the entire amount and then make a tax levy within the 15 mill limitations of the Smith law, to care for interest and sinking fund charges on these bonds. School districts may estimate their total deficits up to March, 1921, and proceed in like manner.

Inasmuch as practically all near-bankrupt cities and school districts are now levying up to the limits of the Smith law, they can operate under the compromise plan as follows:

They can cut down present levies for operating expenses and apply the amount of the levy so cut down toward interest and sinking fund charges on deficiency bonds. The money derived from the bonds will tide them over until the state can devise new sources of revenue for them, such as a state income tax. Revenues from the new direct inheritance tax law must also go toward interest and sinking fund charges on the deficiency bonds.

Assistant Attorney General Naylin was drafting the compromise measure today. There was a feeling that it would be acceptable to Gov. Cox, as well as to the Republican majority in the legislature.

BRITISH BIPLANE WRECKED AFTER SAFELY CROSSING STORMY ATLANTIC

Heroes of Air Badly Damage Their Machine When Landing in Ireland

Flyers Leave Galway for London Where Big Reception Awaits Them

GALWAY, Ireland. — The men who, battling fog and sleet, made the first direct flight across the Atlantic ocean from New Foundland to Ireland, start for London today where they will be received as heroes.

Captain John Alcock and Lieut. A. W. Brown declared they felt much refreshed after a night's rest here, and they were steeling themselves for the ordeal of facing cheering thousands upon their arrival in England.

The Vickers biplane, in which they flew the 1,930 miles over a stormy sea in 16 hours, 12 minutes, lay in a bog near where Alcock came down under the impression that he was landing in a beautiful meadow. The machine was so badly damaged in landing that all thought of Alcock flying in it to London was given up today, it was stated. The plane will be taken apart and shipped to the Vickers plant, while Alcock and Brown continue their journey by train and boat, leaving at 3 p. m. today and arriving in London early tomorrow morning.

SEEK SOUVENIRS

After the landing, hundreds of people from Clifden flocked to the scene, eager to obtain souvenirs. Sentries barred the way, but scores managed to run the blockade and wading through ankle deep mud, thronged around the machine tearing bits of fabric from the wings.

The first men to sight the Vickers machine approaching Clifden after its journey from New Foundland, were an Australian soldier on his honeymoon, who was gazing out of a hotel window and a farmer's boy tending hogs. The machine suddenly loomed out of the morning mist and circled over the town, whereupon the two who had seen it spread the word and crowds began to gather.

Alcock circled until he saw the aerolite of the Clifden wireless station. Then he dropped to the earth, quite near the tower. The wireless operators were nearly as astonished as the townfolk, as the aviators climbed wearily from their airship. One radio man quickly improvised an autograph album and ran out, presenting it to Alcock for his immediate signature. He signed and remarked: "Now if we only had a shave and a bath we'd be all right."

120 MILES AN HOUR

"That's the way to fly the Atlantic," Brown said cheerily, with a gay gesture toward the machine.

In a more formal statement Alcock said: "I believe the secret of long distance flying under the conditions we encountered is to nurse the engines. I never opened the throttle once. The machine has an ordinary speed of 90 miles an hour and with the wind behind us we managed to average 120. I wore electrically heated clothing."

URGE PASSAGE OF RATE REGULATION MEASURE

COLUMBUS — The Ohio Association of Creamery Owners and Managers and the Ohio Association of Ice Cream Manufacturers, through their joint secretary, Arthur S. Burkett, of Columbus, were active today in the movement to put through the legislature this week the Robinson bill.

The Robinson bill requires public utilities, such as power, gas, water and light companies, to secure the approval of the state utilities commission before increasing rates.

"Many of these increases have amounted to as much as 75 percent," said Burkett today. "The demand for the passage of the Robinson bill is well nigh universal. It is being smothered in the senate committee on public utilities."

Reported Killed, Ohioans are Alive

MARION, O.—Safe and well and happy, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Layman and the latter's two children, man and the latter's two children, reported Saturday as having been killed in a California railroad wreck, arrived here today.

They sent their baggage on ahead. Its arrival here two weeks ago with no additional word from the owners led Clarence Layman, a son of Charles Layman, to investigate. He was notified Saturday they had been victims of a Santa Fe wreck.

GERMAN TREATY IS MODIFIED BY PEACE CONGRESS

Final Terms as Submitted to Foe Today Are in Milder Form

By LOWELL MELLETT
(Copyright, 1919, by the United Press.)

PARIS—The real treaty of Paris, to be handed to the Germans in Versailles this evening, differs materially from the "conditions of peace which the enemy received May 9."

Several important changes have been made since the Germans submitted their counter-proposals, the principles of the original treaty remain the same. The view of those intimately concerned in making the alterations is that the greatest change lies in the new tone manifest in the 20,000 word document explaining the changes and replying to Count Brockdorff-Rantzau's objections. The tone is said to be moderate and explanatory throughout, and the document is intended to show that the allies desire only to do justice and avoid inflicting unnecessary hardships on their late enemies. This is particularly true of the reparations clause, it is understood, which points out the permanent allied commission expects to avoid any unwarranted interference with German internal affairs. It is said this clause will tell the Germans they will be informed of the total of the indemnities within a few months. (Four months instead of two years was agreed to a few days ago, but it is impossible to state whether this period was finally written into the draft.)

ENTRY INTO LEAGUE
The change regarding Germany's admission to the league of nations is important, since the phrase "in a short time" is understood to have been employed. This is generally accepted as meaning October, when the first formal meeting will be held in Washington.

AN INTERRUPTED CEREMONY

Battles Again Fought By Old Veterans Here

Altho it was 54 years ago this spring that General Wilson led his 15,000 cavalry troops thru the south in an endeavor to draw the Confederate army away from their base of ammunition, Selma, Alabama, and capture that important arsenal, three men met in Lima Monday morning and went over the entire raid, foot by foot, episode for episode, as clearly as the actual occurrence happened.

Milton Brown, of Lebanon, Ohio; T. L. Smith of Oxford, Ill., and S. D. Leslie, of Logan, Ohio, met in the registration booth on the Public Square. These three veterans had all participated in that peculiar raid, and were all members of the Fourth Ohio Cavalry.

With memories undimmed by 54 years the three veterans recalled the incidents leading up to the long drive thru Alabama, the capture of Selma, and the return to Macon, Georgia.

Gravel Springs, Tuskegee, Chattahoochee, Montavilla, Black Water River, where men and horses were lost in the swift flowing stream, Chickasaw, and the general review, Columbus, Georgia, where the bridge was charged—all these points were as clearly imprinted in the memory of these veterans as the events of yesterday.

The wounding of Lieut. Col. Eli Long, in Macon, Georgia, they spoke of, eulogizing Long as the bravest man in any army.

The drive south, punctuated by severe opposition at many points, took the Fourth Ohio almost to Mobile. Smith enlisted in the army when a stripling of a boy, barely 18 years old. In fact he was discharged in '65 at the age of 17.

"Did you capture Selma on this raid?" he was asked.

"Did we? Well, I should say we did," he hastily replied, as proud of the fact today as the day of the victory.

It was disguised as a carry-all, having as part of its burden Mr. and Mrs. C. Boswell, of Hammond, Indiana, their four children, tents, bedding, cooking stove, fishing tackle, tea-pots and kettles, suit cases and bundles, etc., etc.

Boswell, who weighs approximately 260 pounds, said he was on a pleasure trip. Bystanders who witnessed the car laboring along said they'd bet it was no pleasure for the Ford.

STORM SUNDAY CAUSES DELAY ON OHIO ELECTRIC

Interurban service on the Lima-Toledo and Defiance divisions of the Ohio Electric was interrupted Sunday night during the electrical storm which visited here. Operation of cars on both these lines was delayed for a period of one hour when lightning connected with the high tension wires north of Lima.

Linemen were sent from the local barns to repair the damage. No serious trouble was reported, according to General Manager Dugan.

CASE IS HEARD
Hearing of the suit to recover the sum of $168 entered by R. O. Woods against Charles T. and Ida R. Vaughn was commenced in common pleas court Monday morning. Action involves the collection of money said to be due as commission on the sale of a house at 928 West Spring street, listed with Woods for sale and sold without his knowledge.

SALE ORDERED
Judge Klugger Monday ordered the sale of one acre of the estate of Curtis Leist, deceased, for the erection of an elevator. Action was taken due to the heirs of Leist being eight children of minor age. Walter S. Jackson was named as guardian to dispose of the property involved.

WHEAT CROP INVOLVED
Disposition of the future crop of wheat on the land of William M. Jones will be decided in a suit filed Monday in common pleas court. Jones seeks an injunction against George Luce, administrator of the estate of T. B. Miskel, and Walter Williams restraining the harvest of 35 acres of wheat on land rented by them. An amount of rent is said to be due and unpaid.

FAVORS BIG ARMY

Baker Wants 500,000 Men—Needs Many at Border

WASHINGTON — Secretary of War Baker today told the senate military committee that "a peace army" of only 300,000 would be "unsafe." He urged the committee to increase the 300,000 men provided in the army bill as passed by the house to 500,000.

The Mexican situation, Baker disclosed is such that it will require maintaining a strong force on or near the border in addition to the regular border patrol. Baker disposed of rumors that Chief of Staff March is to be supplanted by Gen. Pershing.

While Baker was before the military committee, Secretary Daniels conferred with Senator Page, chairman of naval affairs, to urge that house reductions in the naval bill be remedied.

BLAME FOR FIRE IS PLACED ON OWNERS

Deputy State Fire Marshals Ewing and Sizor, who were called into the city late today to investigate the fire at the Lima Sanitary Refining company, placed the blame for it upon the carelessness of the owners of the plant.

Both fire marshals, upon investigating the situation declared that wood had been piled against the boiler, in the plant, causing the fire. Petitions were in circulation, according to Fire Chief Mack, to have the plant removed from the neighborhood.

FARMER TRIES TO END HIS LIFE

Resident of Near Spencerville In Serious Condition at City Hospital

Dora Reynolds, 32, farmer, four miles north of Spencerville, attempted suicide early this morning, by firing two 22-calibre bullets into his brain. The bullets entered about the middle of his forehead.

No motive could be found for the act according to Spencerville undertakers. Reynolds for some time past, they say, had been suffering from mental depression and to this they accredited his attempt.

Reynolds was formerly a foreman of a railroad section gang at Kemp. Later he bought a small farm north of Spencerville where he lived with his wife and four children.

Following his attempt at suicide, he was rushed to the Lima City hospital by the Miller ambulance of Spencerville, where he is being operated upon. His condition, late today, was considered serious by physicians.

When a Girl Marries

By ANN LISLE

"My, but I'm sleepy," yawned Phoebe, as she followed me into the bedroom on our return from the strange evening to which she had treated me. "I could sleep till noon. I hope you aren't an early riser, like Vee. Breakfast at eight-thirty at home and every one has to be there."

"We won't get up—till we wake up," I laughed. "I'm pretty tired myself, and I promise to let you sleep as long as you like."

"That's nice," said Phoebe casually and indifferently.

Then we made our preparations for bed in silence, punctuated by the most prefatory remarks. I had determined to save my serious talk until morning, and I didn't want to risk being startled out of my determination. I must have a little perspective on our evening before I attempted to discuss it, else I would be too emotional, too personal in my viewpoint to help Phoebe at all.

"Anne, you haven't said you enjoyed our evening," ventured Phoebe in a slightly amused tone after the lights were out.

I was happy to be with you, dear," I replied after a moment's hesitation. "As for the rest—let's save that to talk over in the morning. Good night."

"Good night," murmured Phoebe. But long after her regular breathing told me she was asleep I lay wondering if it wouldn't have done my cause a little good had I risen and gone over to give little Phoebe a good-night kiss.

When I woke the little clock on my bureau revealed itself by slow degrees as marking the hour of nine. I peered over at Phoebe's bed. She was snuggled down among the covers with one long braid and a little pink ear the only revelations that the bundle over there was human. So I tiptoed into the bathroom and dressed there.

Then I tiptoed out to the living room, set things to rights and made the preparations for breakfast. At ten Phoebe still slept, so I ate my breakfast and got a tray ready for her. This indulgence would, I hoped, be as much of a caress as the kiss I had failed to give her last night have been.

Then I went in to run her bath, and this time I didn't slip. So presently Phoebe awoke, and before long she was tucked in among the pillows with her tray.

"This is nice of you, Anne," said Phoebe, coolly as she finished her grapefruit and advanced to her coffee and toast. "But where's your breakfast?"

"I couldn't take anything except black coffee and dry toast," I replied. "That Chinese chicken was a bit too much for me. Doesn't it bother you?"

"Oh, I'm used to it," replied Phoebe calmly.

"You go to Chang Fuy's a lot don't you dear?" I began with restraint, and then at last, flinging diplomacy to the winds, I let my heart speak. "Oh, Phoebe, Phoebe, dear, I don't like it! And I don't like Evvy or Mr. West or Sheldon, either. I wish, wish wish that you wouldn't see so much of them."

Phoebe stared at me with candid distaste for a moment.

"They're my friends," she reminded me.

"Not the right friends—not good enough for you," I protested. "I saw that for myself last night, dear. You're too sweet, too fine for them."

"Did you go along to spy?"

Phoebe's voice took on a sneering quality not unlike that of Jim's when he resented my interference with his viewpoint. She put back the tray and got to the floor, slipping into the robe and sandals I had given her. Then she faced me with a curt little air of dignity.

"I didn't want to go particularly," I replied. "I did want to talk to you, though. And when you planned to save me a lonely evening, I couldn't refuse for fear of hurting you."

"No? Well you're a little late in your fears of hurting me, Anne. And you're a little late in your interference in my affairs. Once I would have welcomed it. When Jim married you I thought you'd just naturally feel like a sister. A fine sister!"

"Oh Phoebe, dear, I know that I failed you often. But it was because I was—afraid of Virginia, and didn't dare interfere. Now you need me."

"Now I have friends of my own and don't need you."

"Oh, Phoebe, you do! They're the wrong friends."

I had crossed over to the bureau and found myself with the jade earrings Dick West had given Phoebe in one hand and in the other the lip-stick Evvy had taught her to use.

"They teach you things and give you things," I began.

Phoebe swept over and caught her possessive out of my hand.

"They're my friends. I was lonely till I found them. Give me my presents, Anne Harrison. Once I had a gift—and it was taken from me. Now I keep what's mine. You didn't try to help me then. I don't want you—interference now. I won't have it!"

"Oh, Phoebe, you've changed!" I cried.

Phoebe laughed curly.

"Yes, I've changed. And you can't change me back again. Remember that!"

An dthen I knew that I had failed. But there remained one thing more for me to do.

CARRANZA SENDS HIS SON-IN-LAW TO OBTAIN SEAT IN WORLD LEAGUE

Gen. Candido Aguilar

WASHINGTON — (Special) — Theme mystery surrounding the visit to this country on special mission of Gen. Candido Aguilar, son-in-law of President Carranza and governor of the state of Vera Cruz, has been cleared up by official advices from Mexico City indicating that the primary purpose of his visit is to bring about Mexico's admission to the league of nations.

General Aguilar, who is accompanied by a considerable retinue, has already had conferences with leading government officials, including Acting Secretary of State Polk and Ambassador Fletcher, who was recalled some time ago from Mexico City to assist Mr. Polk here.

The Mexican general, who is a candidate for president to succeed his father-in-law and the latter's choice for chief executive, is understood to have discussed with Mr. Fletcher the situation in northern Mexico. The activities of the new Angeles-Villa combination are giving concern to officials here as well as to the Mexico City government.

After having met and conferred with President Wilson in this country, General Aguilar will go to France, where he will confer with President Poincare on the subject of admitting Mexico to the league of nations. He will also endeavor to have England resume diplomatic relations with Mexico.

Nothing in recent history, according to advices reaching Washington, has so humiliated the Mexican people as the exclusion of Mexico from the league. The dissatisfaction is so marked that open charges are being made against President Carranza for having so conducted the government that the civilized nations of the world will not admit Mexico to their society.

President Carranza is said to realize the danger in the situation. Hence the dispatch of his son-in-law to the United States and Europe.

Gen. Pablo Gonzales and General Obregon, avowed candidates for the presidency, have announced to their friends and followers that they will bend every effort to right the wrong done to Mexico as a result of the policy of the Carranza government.

In view of this situation, President Carranza and General Aguilar feel that if the latter can bring about the admission of Mexico into the league they may be able to defeat other candidates for the presidency.

STUDY RUSSIA, IS ADVICE OFFERED YOUNG AMERICAN

Big Trade Opportunities Pointed Out by United States Officials

WASHINGTON.—If you want to share in the greatest commercial and industrial development of the immediate future, study the Russian language, and also Russian geography, resources and trade methods. This is the advice of the Bureau of Education to young Americans. Russia is in chaos now, but it can't afford to stay in chaos much longer. And whether it emerges a Socialist state, a social-democracy or a republic, its 150,000,000 people must be supplied with the necessities of life; it must be equipped with railroads and factories; its forests and mines must be utilized. And all or most of this must be done by traders and engineers and capitalists from the West, for Russia has neither trained men, money nor tools.

Americans seem least aware of the Russian opportunity; but the Bureau of Education and the Federal Board for Vocational Education have been doing what they can to overcome this indifference.

Surveys have been made in 250 American cities with a view to establishing evening or day classes in the Russian language.

A good many American firms are already training young men to go into Russia as soon as political conditions will permit.

The Russians are in desperate need of almost everything that a human can need, and the very highest prices prevail. These prices are bound to continue for some time. Forty dollars a pair of shoes; $100 for a very ordinary suit of clothes, and 50 cents for a cake of soap are not unusual prices in war time in Russia.

As an opportunity for foreign trade Russia is almost a new field to Americans. Before the war Germany had 46 per cent of all the Russian business, and England a good part of the rest.

The United States had only 3 per cent and half of this was controlled by German agents. All of these old trade relations have been broken up by war.

It is estimated that as soon as conditions in Russia become settled, she will have 1,500,000,000 worth of trade to offer the world, and the United States will have as good a chance for this as any other country.

INFANT MORTALITY is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilized countries, twenty-two per cent., or nearly one-quarter, die before they reach one year; thirty-seven per cent. or more than one-third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen!

We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save many of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they stupify, retard circulation and lead to congestions, sickness, death. There can be no danger in the use of Castoria if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher as it contains no opiates or narcotics of any kind.

Children Cry For Fletcher's CASTORIA

Let's Think It Over.

There is such a thing as saying too much on any subject, and the "grand-stand" talker sooner or later becomes a bore. The truth is always welcomed, and the truth reiterated and confirmed is more than welcome—it reaches your innermost soul.

Fletcher's Castoria is all its advertising has claimed for it. Scrutinized by the microscope of public opinion and used for over thirty years it stands without a peer in the hearts of thoughtful, cautious, discerning Mothers. And once used, mother love—there is no substitute for mother love—will scorn to try a "substitute" or a "just-as-good."

Masquerading under many names drugs that are injurious to the tender babe have found their way into some households, but the light of experience soon casts them out. Are they cast out before it is too late?

THE PERNICIOUS MORNING'S MAIL

We started for our office in a wonderful frame of mind. Everything in the world was just as it should be. We were brim full of human kindness and brotherly love—To say nothing of sisterly, you understand. We even loved the subway. We leaned quite nonchalantly against a Bolshevik. We clung to the monkey strap quite contentedly.

Then we got to our office and picked up the mail.

Item—One letter from landlord stating that our rent had been raised from $73 to $83 per month.

Item—Letter from friend needing $50 at once to pay on his automobile.

Item—Note from family doctor mentioning a certain amount.

Item—Office note from the boss asking an embarrassing question.

Item—Bill from automobile repair gentleman of great ambitions.

Item—Note from treasury department concerning delinquency on Liberty bond.

Item—Note from club asking for last year's dues.

Item—Three fat envelopes containing rejected manuscript from magazines.

Item—Letter from Arthur Hamerstein saying the first act would have to be rewritten and revamped, and the second act built over.

Item—Large fat envelope containing motion picture scenario returned.

Resolution—We are going to stay happy. Hereafter mail arriving at this desk will be opened by the office boy and carefully sorted.

Whenever we read of these carryings-on in the upper circles it makes us below stairs folk fairly glow with adoration at the quaint names for country estates. "The Box," "The Breakers," and "Graystone" are all class, but I like the name Arthur Somers Roche has selected for his Connecticut country home best of all. It has been named after one of his first novel successes, "Loot."

According to the advertisements, the railway fare from a certain point to the Cornell semi-centennial is $25 including birth. Cornell, Cornell, I yell, I yell, Cornell!

A London scientist attributes all human savagery to the inhuman habit of eating meat. At the present price of meat, savagery probably is on a sharp decline.

Just in order to keep the record straight, we wish to announce that Mr. Stephen Constable is constable of North Wales township, Pennsylvania.

After a while I reckon we'll be hearin' some women say, "I'd love to vote for him, but I haven't a thing to wear." Tell Blinky he decided not to buy a pair of shoes for a few days and put his money out on compound interest.

Property Values

NO TIME SHOULD be lost in getting business real estate in Lima on the tax duplicate for nearer its true value. The Smith one per cent law presumes that property will be listed at 100 per cent of its value, thus making it possible to cut down the tax rate. This condition does not exist here.

HOME OWNERS are bearing more than their share of the burden of taxation. Residence property is on the duplicate for far more in proportion than business property, thus working a hardship on the man who has saved enough money to buy a little abode. This should be rectified.

IT IS WITHIN the power of the county auditor to order a readjustment of valuations when they are considered too low. No better indication for the need of this could be had than a comparison of recent sale prices of central business property and the amounts for which they are listed for taxation.

BOTH THE city and schools would be benefitted by increasing the duplicate to compare favorably with other cities of this class. It would mean enough money for operation on a cash basis. It is due them and should be provided.

Labor Shortage

LIMA INDUSTRIES are now furnishing work for all who want it. Pre-war conditions practically exist here. Employment bureau officials are optimistic and believe these encouraging conditions will continue. This is one of the best indications of a prosperous city now that the reconstruction period is on. A city that can furnish plenty of labor for its inhabitants is fortunate.

WHILE MANY cities are not able to give employment to their people, the announcement is made in Washington that should every soldier be placed in his old job immediately there would be a shortage of 4,000,000 workmen, figured on normal conditions, due to the loss in immigration the last four years.

THIS SHORTAGE will be serious if not immediately taken care of. The country has gone without its normal supply of peace-time commodities for years and now wants them replenished. To take care of these conditions many manufacturers have instituted training courses and maintain them at their own expense to get back to the old order of things.

Let Foch Do It

GERMANY must sign the peace treaty by June 21, or be crushed. The Allied delegates have issued this ultimatum. It will stand. If the enemy does not come to terms the economic blockade will go into effect June 22, and the Allied armies will start their march on the foe.

MARSHALL FOCH is prepared for this contingency. If it is necessary for further military operations he should be given a free hand. He brought the Teutons to their knees when they seemed at the height of their power. He can be trusted to repeat.

MISS LIMA: "Pretty soon the boys will be singing, 'My Bonnie Flies Over the Ocean.'"

The New Council

MORE INTEREST is being shown in the coming election of councilmen in Lima than for years. The new legislative body may have an entirely changed appearance after the people cast their votes. All that remains to be seen.

THE FACT remains that it is complimentary to business men of the city that they are taking more interest in city affairs than ever before. Their willingness to run for council shows they have the good of Lima at heart and are anxious to help shape a successful future for it.

Today's Health Hints

CANDY, KIDS AND CALORIES

Doctor Blank, a very competent dentist, has a little girl, ten years old, whose teeth have always been perfect, never even a trifling cavity. The little girl was never allowed candy until she was eight years old, and to this fact her father ascribes her well preserved teeth. There is no other feature I can suggest that means so much for the health of a child as well preserved teeth. The child with well preserved teeth rarely or never has any serious trouble from enlarged tonsils, adenoids, sore throats and the long train of deplorable sequelae of nose and throat infections. But Doctor Blank frankly admits he may be mistaken in his view.

Mr. Dash, a newspaper man, has two little girls, one about six, the other about nine years old.

Abe Martin

After a while I reckon we'll be hearin' some women say, "I'd love to vote for him, but I haven't a thing to wear." Tell Blinky he decided not to buy a pair of shoes for a few days and put his money out on compound interest.

Candy cannot replace bread and butter, milk, fruit and vegetables in the diet of a child in the growing years. It should not be given to children at irregular times, but following meals. A pound of candy contains, on the average, 1700 calories, rather more than a pound of the best beef.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

The Graduality of the Obese
I am 35 years old, 5'8", 170 lbs. tall, and weigh 170 pounds. I have put on most of my weight in the past few years. Are 1500 salt baths beneficial? (Mrs. L. S. W.)

ANSWER—If you mean beneficial for reducing of course the 1500 salt baths is just a had joke on a credulous individual. The credulous becomes more so with increasing obesity. The only safe and effective way to reduce is by controlling the intake of food and the output of energy—diet and exercise. Glad to give you definite instructions if you will accompany your request with a stamped addressed envelope for reply by mail.

Does Rupture Heal Spontaneously?
When our little boy was a year old we discovered that he had a rupture in the right groin. The doctor applied a kind of belt for support. But after four months the rupture remains. Do you think there is any chance that the boy will ever become strong and the rupture heal? (M. K. J.)

ANSWER—The hernia (breach rupture) has nothing to do with the boy's strength. It is merely an accident of development. If the belt or support prevents any bulging or protrusion, there is still a chance that the rupture may heal, though after the first year such chance is very small. In the third year, if the rupture is still present, the child should be operated on for permanent cure.

Excess Perspiration Under Arms
Will you please publish again a formula you printed months ago for the relief of excessive perspiration in the armpits? (M. M. L.)

ANSWER—Half an ounce of aluminum chloride dissolved in two ounces of distilled or rain water. Moisten the skin of armpits with sponge or cotton once each day for about three times.

To confound the proofreader I'll repeat the formula:
Aluminum chloride . . . ½ ounce
Distilled water . . . 2 ounces

CONFESSIONS of an EVERY DAY WIFE

THE WHOLE STORY

"These are the thoughts, my dear Ellene," I continued, "which I used to confide to my whispering tree; thoughts which hold for me the whole vista of life, but I have always felt that if I told them to anyone—even you, Ellene—and I saw incredulity or lack of interest in your face I think it would have hurt me more than if you had bruised my body."

"We are never at rest. In the words of the old song, our souls are marching on. Some of us, however, linger behind and the band of eager marchers look at us through the mist and call us yellow. We are not—if they but knew it. It is only the peculiar atmosphere in which we insist upon staying that makes us look yellow to those who have gone farther into the light."

"And the peculiar thing about it all is that however near we may be to the great place of real understanding—even when it is just around the corner—we are never sure that we may not take a wrong path—a path that looks innocent and inviting, but which surely leads through the yellow dusk to the darkness of despair."

"Tonight, my dear girl, I feel as though you, too, had been walking along the path my feet have always trod. You and I, dear, will be better friends and come together with a better understanding because of this experience and this unburdening of our souls."

I had been talking a little against time, for I hardly knew how to tell Ellene about meeting Major Gordon.

and Mrs. Charlton at—and I was trying to decide whether to tell her of Theo and Sallie Saunders."

I had put my arms about her as we sat on her chaise longue together. At last I said:

"Ellene, when I arrived over there today I found Major Gordon. Ellene stiffened in my arms where she had been weeping."

"Does he know?" he asked in horror.

"No dear, but there are other complications. Mrs. Charlton in some way found out that the Major and I were going to the same town, and she followed us, and just as the Major and I were coming out of my suite at the hotel, she confronted us in the hall."

"What did you do then? Oh my dear, I will never forgive myself if I have made you any trouble."

"Don't worry, it is all right up to date, but she is liable to be very ugly when she finds that you and the Major are engaged."

Then I sat down and told her the whole story.

"Is it possible there are such terrible people in the world?" she asked, almost in awe, when I told her that her lover had recognized Major Gordon's name and he had not come back because he loved her but because he thought he could arrange to free himself from punishment by using her letters."

When I came to the place where I saw Theo and Sallie Saunders one of the window Ellene just gasped.

Of course Ellene does not know how terribly Sallie Saunders betrayed Tim, but she has an idea of Sallie's nature.

"You do not think, do you, Margot, that Theo met her there by appointment?"

"I can think nothing else, for surely she would not stop off at a town so near home just for a few hours if she did not expect to see someone."

"What are you going to do about it?"

"I can do nothing, my dear sister. Do you not realize that I cannot explain being there, myself?"

"I think we had better tell Theo the whole thing."

"Not unless we have to, but one thing we must do, we must not lie about it."

"Dear Margot you are the sweetest, dearest woman in all the world and I know I love you better than I could a real sister."

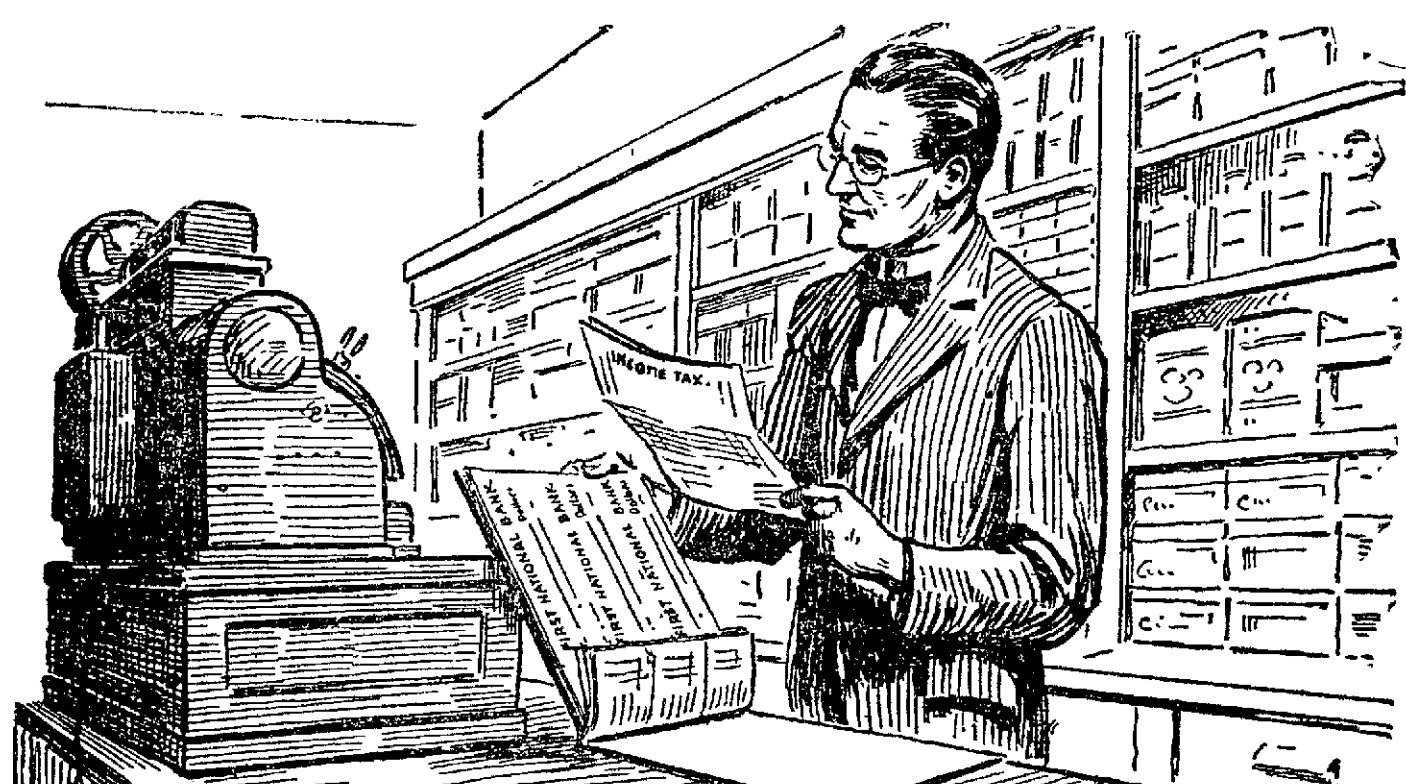

"Well, we will fight it out on this line if possible. The only thing that worries me is Mrs. Charlton. I do not quite know just what she will do when she finds out you and the Major are to be married."

"But, Margot, I am not sure that he has not changed his mind. I have not seen him for two whole days," Ellene smiled.

"Don't worry, my dear. The last words he said to me at the door were to tell you that he was coming for his answer tomorrow—and that is today, you know—I congratulated him."

(Tomorrow—"Theo Tries to Make Amends.")

There's no reason why a merchant should worry about his income tax report or his store records

THE average storekeeper who uses a bank check book and an up-to-date National Cash Register can get the figures which tell him how his business stands every day, and the figures he needs for his income tax report once a year.

From his check book and bills:

He can get the cost of running his store, cost of merchandise bought, and a record of payments made.

From his National Cash Register:

He can get a record of his store transactions:

- ① Cash Sales ③ Received on Account
- ② Charge Sales ④ Petty Cash Paid Out

These store transactions are the basis of his gross income. They total sixty per cent to ninety per cent of the details occupying his time and clerical labor. They must be made rapidly during the rush of selling. They are hard to get, hard to keep, impossible to verify, and expensive to record unless he uses a modern National Cash Register.

National Cash Register figures are the foundation for accounting systems in stores all over the world. A post card or phone call will bring you full information about the way a modern N. C. R. System will keep your store records by machinery.

This is Better Than Laxative

One NR Tablet Each Night For A Week Will Correct Your Constipation & Make Comfortable Sleeping Unnecessary. Try It.

Poor digestion and assimilation mean a poorly nourished body and low vitality. Poor elimination produces constipation, indigestion, flatulence and the formation of poisons which are absorbed by the blood. The result is weakness, headache, dizziness, coated tongue, inactive bowels, loss of energy, nervousness, poor appetite, impurities in blood, mallow complexion, pimples, etc., and often times serious illness.

Ordinary laxatives, purges and cathartics—sulfate of soda, calomel and like—may relieve for a few hours, but, lasting benefit can only be realized through the use of medicine that cleanses the bowels, improves the digestive system and the assimilative organs. Get a box of Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) and take one tablet each night for a week. Before you do this, remember, keep your bowels regular. The very first dose, but a few days will elapse before you feel and realize the fullest benefit. When you do, you will then keep your system in good condition and you will always be your best. Remember, keeping well is easier and cheaper than getting well. Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) is sold, guaranteed and recommended by your druggist.

Mrs. R. H. Lockhead entertained with a birthday party at her home, 713 east Vine street, Saturday afternoon in honor of her daughter's fourth birthday. Music and games were the diversion of the afternoon and popcorn and candy were at the guests disposal throughout the afternoon and later a delicious luncheon was served in the dining room. SMART RESTAURANT FROCK FOR SUMMER

BY ELOISE

Whether you want to believe it or not, the dry wave which will hit this country about July 1, according to the best authorities, will have a noticeable effect upon millady's wardrobe. A great many of the hotels and other restaurants which must close their bars will introduce dancing, and that means that women who dine out will want restaurant frocks suitable for the dance floor. Suits and more conservative costumes will give way to the more dainty frocks of tulle and taffeta.

Here is one of the very newest restaurant frocks which seems made especially for the supper-dance. It is golden brown taffeta veiled in corn colored mulline. Taffeta rushing forms a novel trimming on the skirt and bodice. It looks very much like a small feather boa on the blouse. The short sleeves which come from France are also smart and new.

The small airy hat to dancing is made of puffs of mulline to match and strands of paradise feathers.

Mrs. George T. Glover, of Lakewood avenue, will entertain with a dinner party at the Shawnee Country club Friday evening, complimenting Mrs. Frank O'Brien (Margaret Golley,) of Chicago.

Lucille Teeters, of St. Marys, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. W. R. Blackburn, of 406 east High street.

PENSIONS GIVEN 4 LIMA PEOPLE

Welly Announces Action—Probing Alleged Discrimination in Rates

Three additional Lima women, widows of soldiers of the Civil and Spanish-American wars, have been added to the pension list at Washington, according to information received from Congressman B. F. Welly. The commissioner of pensions has allowed the sum of $25 per month in each case.

One Civil war veteran, Orin F. Marshall, Lima, is to receive $24 monthly, with the new order.

The committee on railways and canals, of which Welly is a member, is to be asked to investigate the discrimination alleged to be shown in freight rates of railroads as applying to shipments received from waterways. It is the contention that a higher charge is exacted for a consignment received from a canal barge than from another rail line.

No decision has been reached in the investigation of the case of Victor L. Berger, who is seeking a seat in congress, but who is being opposed following his attitude during the war. It is claimed that he gave aid and comfort to the enemy during the war.

Lima Gives Keystones 5 To 0 Wallop

Vaudeville baseball was the feature at the Murphy street ball park Sunday between the Chicago Keystones and Independents.

Everything except a home run was on the program, including doubles plays, a sacrifice fly, infield hits, spectacular catches, and clumsy errors.

Lima scored the first and every alternate inning during the game, racking up 5 tallies against the goose-egg taken back to Chicago by the Keystones.

In the initial round Wentz and Hikes pulled off a double play, and the third man up knocked up a pop, fly for Roush.

Harrison started the game off for the locals by stirring up a breeze with his bat. Wentz got first on an error by Morton. Costello cracked a hot one thru pitcher and second base, which landed Wentz on third. Egan followed suit with a stinging grounder thru third. Divis fell down chasing the ball, and when he got it he threw it about 20 feet from third base, leaving Egan on that sack, with two runs scored. Hikes flew out to left-field, and Flannery struck-out.

Harrison drew a walk in the third, made second on Wentz's sacrifice, took third on a passed ball, and scored on Costello's sacrifice fly to center-field.

Callahan got the bases full in the fifth, and then walked Egan, and Pierce scored the fifth run in the seventh on his hit, a sacrifice by Harrison, and a wild throw by Zimmerman.

Two Keystone men got to third, three men got to first with no down, enthusiastic fans.

CICOTTE KNOWS HOW TO DOCTOR THE PILL

They called it the "shine" ball for a time, and later it was called the "paraffine" ball. It appears now that the ball which Eddie Cicotte has so completely mastered should be known as the "mystery" ball. Cicotte or some other members of the team is so skillful in his massage work on the pellet that even the umpires are in a haze about it. Once in a great while a ball is thrown out, but most of them stay in the game.

THE LIMA DAILY NEWS—SPORT PAGE

despite the numerous protests of opposing players.

There is no denying the fact that Cicotte is as smart as any other pitcher in the game, smarter than most of them; also that he has plenty of natural ability and probably would be a consistent winner without the freak delivery which he alone seems to have mastered. But it is likewise true that when he is pitching the ball takes on an uneven discoloration that can be noticed in the grandstand. Umpires examine it, realize that it is discolored, but regard it as within the baseball law. Last summer Joe Fineran of the Yankees used the delivery with some success but nothing like that of Cicotte. At Comiskey park the Chicago players put up protests against Fineran, but Billy Evans, who was umpiring the series, declined to throw out the ball when Fineran was pitching, since he figured it was no different than when Cicotte was working.

Fineran's mode of doctoring the ball consisted in rubbing paraffine into the seams on one side of the ball. By pressing his glove into the dirt and rubbing the ball into the palm of the glove the dirt entered the seams and stuck there, thus making the side of the ball containing the paraffine and dirt heavier than the other. Without the paraffine the dirt would not hold but the wax substance kept it in. Fineran could make the ball take peculiar gyrations in practice, but he could not properly control it in a game.

Jim Shaw of the Washington club has done considerable experimenting with the same ball. Shaw's uniform has a dark spot near the right hip on which he rubs the ball continually before pitching.

When the Yankees were at Comiskey park recently they did some doctoring of their own to offset the effects of the treatment which they contend Cicotte gives to a ball. Eddie beat them that day, but he did not weave any such spell over them as on days when he had the delivery working properly. The box score showed nine hits and some more were cut off by the great fielding of Collins and Rieberg. Shawky pitched for the Yankees and he found it difficult to control the ball that had been so much doctoring. In the late innings the Yanks decided that they were handicapping Shawky and let the ball alone. Cicotte showed more in the late innings than in the early frames, and his only strike outs of the game, three in number, came in the last three innings.

New York players contend that Cicotte uses the paraffine and dirt system to get the peculiar twists on the ball. Perhaps this is the true story, perhaps not. At any rate Cicotte has something that no other pitcher has.

Two years ago it was argued that

JIM FLYNN, ONCE "WHITE HOPE," NOW WALLOPS FOLKS AROUND IN THE MOVIES

The next time you go to the movies if you see a gent with a tin ear heaving extra people all over: the lot with the fine abandon of a fox terrier fighting a feather pillow, you will know that has happened. Jim Flynn, the veteran heavyweight in the world—he was trained for the fray by Abdul the Terrible Turk, an illustrious Byzantine with a tin ear of his own. When the "Lynn" fortunes declined, Abdul got a job as athletic trainer for Mack Sennett, the screen comedy producer. So Abdul horned James into the studio honest Sennett comedy. It was through having a friend at court that Jim burst into the world of art. In all his fights—and Jim has been licked by all the famous fighters in the world—he was trained for the fray by Abdul the Terrible Turk, an illustrious Byzantine with a tin ear of his own. When the "Lynn" fortunes declined, Abdul got a job as athletic trainer for Mack Sennett, the screen comedy producer. So Abdul horned James into the studio one side of the ball was roughened and the other shined up to get the peculiar break. Later came the packed seam theory. The only evidence from the stand consists of the rapid discoloration, with no apparent reason, and the eagerness not to let certain balls get out of play.

Then again it must not be forgotten that the ball, after getting the necessary massage, must be thrown a certain way, and that adds to the mystery of it. Cicotte seems to be the only one that knows all about that, or at least is the only one to pitch it with success.

Most Self-Confident Champ Is Jess

By H. C. Hamilton
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
TOLEDO—There is every indication here today that Jack Dempsey would do no more boxing in preparation for his bout with Jess Willard, at least until Friday with a strong probability that it will be Saturday before Trainer DeForest and Manager Kerns will permit him to expose himself to clouts from his sparring partners.

And in the meantime, Jess Willard is going silently, ploddingly, and confidently ahead with his training. The shimmy shivers the big champion has been showing since he first began to train is giving way to the firmness of flesh which so distinguishes his superbly trained challenger from himself.

Willard is the most self-confident man the ring has had for a champion, bar none. "I know just what is good for me and I will train my own way," he said to me yesterday during a sparring session. "No suggestion can alter my way of doing things. They say my sparring partners are no good, but I am satisfied. I don't believe I could get better men. If I could I would go after them. There is no reason to believe I would risk my title just on a couple of three sparring partners, is there?"

Jess admitted to me that the heat here gave him an awful time of it when he first took up his training camp duties. "Why, when I first started in here, I thought several times I would faint in the ring. Seemed like I was sticking my head in an oven when I went under the hot sun. Now that has all passed away I feel like the sun was my best friend. You can see that I have been doing lots more work and that I am able to go at a faster pace."

Tex Rickard smilingly pointed out today that Toledo hasn't always been cursed by hot weather such as it is now experiencing. He dug up a lot of meteorological charts to see what he could find out about the ramifications of the weather man.

He declared there hasn't been a July day here since the weather bureau was established when the thermometer mounted higher than 94. And most were much cooler.

The heat here just now is oppressive, but never unobtainable combine with Rickard in saying that July is not such a fearful un-congenial month in these parts. The huge amphitheatre where the bout will be held is rapidly nearing completion. Built on the lines of that other sport edifice, the Yale bowl, it is contended for it that it will hold a larger crowd on Independence day this year than did the famous New Haven structure on the occasion of the last Yale-Harvard football game, when something like a crowd of 70,000 found its way through the Yale portals.

Rickard is withholding his anticipations of what will be the return for his efforts, but he believes the greatest crowd that ever witnessed a sporting event of any kind in this country will be around. Of course, Polmeys or some other Roman chronicler said once upon a time that the Circus Maximus held a little pow-wow reaching something near 400,000 fans who wanted to see some Christian blood flow, but Tex passed this over with a grin when it was suggested, and wanted to know who could prove it. The two boxers went through their daily stunts yesterday before the largest crowd that has yet visited the camps. And the sun was hot, too.

Dempsey went two easy rounds with Jamaica Kid. Jess took on Jack Hemple, Walter Monaghan and Jack Heinen.

Short Shavings

They were walking under a very little umbrella; he was modest and seemed to be nervous, and she finally remarked softly: "Charlie, I'll carry the umbrella if you'll let me."

"Oh, no, I can carry it."

"Yes, Charlie; but, you see, your arm takes up so much room that one side of me is out in the wet."

"I know, dear, but what will I do with my arm? Won't it be in the way all the same?"

"I don't know, Charlie. Tom Clark always knows what to do with his arm when he is under an umbrella with Mary Martin, because Mary told me so."

Lindley M. Garrison, recolver of the B. R. T., was asked to comment on Federal Judge Julius M. Mayer's suggestion for averting a strike on the B. R. T. lines.

"That would be rather rash for Judge Mayer to pass judgment on me. It reminds me of the case of the man who went in to hear one of Bob Ingersoll's sermons. When he came out he was asked what he thought of the sermon."

"Well," he said, "I have heard what Bob Ingersoll thinks of Christ. But I'd sooner hear what Christ thinks of Bob Ingersoll."

Your cobra is quite a card," said the visitor at the circus.

"Yes, sir."

"But where are you going to get another cobra in this country in case that one dies?"

"Well, I expect this one to last a long time," responded the performer. "As you see, he leads a charmed life."
